

Dan Golembeski
421 Gannon Court
Auburn Hills, MI 48326
August 10, 1999

The Honorable Dan Glickman
Secretary of Agriculture
Washington, D.C.

EX-103 24 A 8:43

1886 99 OCT 18 AM 10:25

My dear Mr. Secretary,

I am writing to express my concerns about genetically-engineered agricultural products. These foods have penetrated our super-markets and, since they are not labeled, it is virtually impossible for consumers to avoid them.

Whether they are safe or not is one question: in my view, these foods are simply an unnecessary risk. We do not have a food shortage worldwide; rather, problems arise from the distribution of food and of wealth.

But it is best for consumers to decide. For personal reasons, I wish to avoid all genetically-engineered food products. Given the current state of affairs, I cannot do this. Please, Mr. Secretary, I urge you to support, as quickly as possible, the required labeling of all genetically-altered foods at the supermarket.

Very truly yours,

Dan Golembeski
Assistant Professor of Modern Languages
Grand Valley State University

golembeski@river.it.gvsu.edu

92N-0139

C 6123

2000000000
2000000000

The Honorable Don Glickman
Secretary of Agriculture
Washington, D. C.

